

Twinkl and ATA offer FREE resources and webinars during Teacher Aide Appreciation Week 2023

Australian schools are gearing up for an exciting week of celebrations as Australian Teacher Aide Appreciation Week approaches. From 28th August to 1st September, the hard work, dedication and commitment of Teacher Aides and Education Support Staff will be recognised and celebrated across the country. Recognising their tireless efforts and unwavering commitment, Twinkl and Australian Teacher Aide (ATA) are once again joining the nationwide celebration by offering educators a variety of resources and webinars to celebrate teacher aides during Teacher Aide Appreciation Week.

Honouring the Backbone of Schools

Australian Teacher Aide Appreciation Week is a tribute to the tireless efforts of teacher aides and support staff who have been the backbone of schools, providing unwavering support to students and educators alike. Throughout the challenging years, they have gone above and beyond, taking on additional responsibilities such as playground duties, catch-up intervention sessions and providing well-being support to ensure a nurturing learning environment.

In primary and secondary schools across Australia, teacher aides play numerous roles, including one-to-one support for children, classroom assistance, lunchtime club supervision, yard duties, first aid and supporting children with additional needs. Their responsibilities are truly endless, and without them, schools would not function as effectively as they do. Besides encouraging schools across Australia to honour the extraordinary efforts of teacher aides and support staff, Twinkl wants to further express its appreciation by offering 24-hour FREE Ultimate access exclusively for teacher aides on Tuesday, 29th August.

All teacher aides with a Twinkl membership and their profile (career) set to 'Teacher Aide' will be able to visit the website and instantly access any resource that is currently available on the platform. Furthermore, no special code is needed to avail the offer and all members of education support staff can claim the offer by simply signing in or creating a free account. No payment information is taken when accessing this offer, and there is no obligation to use Twinkl after the offer has ended.

The team at Australian Teacher Aide (ATA) will also be opening their Professional Development Library to all teacher aides during Appreciation Week. To access unlimited professional learning resources from Monday 28th August to Friday 1st September, teacher aides can simply create a free ATA subscriber account (if they don't currently own one) and access a new set of resources and webinars each day.

Participating in this annual celebration can also give schools and teachers the opportunity to win a Morning Tea (to the value of $150) for the TAs in their community.
