

World's Leading Educational Publisher Helps Teachers Save Even More Time

Twinkl Educational Publishing are delighted to announce the launch of their new scheme of work for the 2014 national curriculum - Twinkl PlanIt. Twinkl PlanIt will cover Key Stages One and Two with its high-quality lesson presentations, lesson plans and differentiated activities all matched to the national curriculum aims and programmes of study. Each unit is packed with additional resources such as vocabulary grids, challenge cards, adult guidance, assessment materials and home learning activity sheets, along with an extensive range of beautifully illustrated display resources.

This time-saving scheme has been over a year in the making and has involved contributions from teachers throughout the UK with a wealth of knowledge across subjects and key stages. Twinkl designers have illustrated and created the finished products, all ably managed by experienced teacher Helen Fulson. Twinkl PlanIt will be available as a subscription from 26th August 2015, which will give access to all units in all subjects and age groups. Content is being added all the time to expand the subjects covered.

A recent survey, of over 1000 teachers, by Twinkl identified that 84% of teachers feel their workload is unsustainable and only 39% predicted that they would be in the profession in 5 years' time. With government plans to cut teacher workload watered down, Twinkl PlanIt will significantly cut time needed for preparation and planning and will allow teachers to concentrate on what really matters - teaching and learning.

"I love this range of resources you're developing! I recently used some of the geography lessons and the accompanying resources to support it, the lessons have been a big hit, both with myself and the children! Thank you, you are helping teachers all over step closer towards the elusive work/ life balance. I am also really excited to see that you are still developing new topics and units of work to link with the new curriculum. Really appreciate your fabulous work!" - Beccijwilliams84
